OF THE

SOCIETY

FOR PROMOTING

RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE

AMONG THE

POOR:

BEGUN ANNO 1750.

LONDON:

PRINTED FOR THOMAS WICHE, NO. 12, BEECH-STREET, CHIS-WELL-STREET, BOOKSELLER TO THE SOCIETY.

M.DCC.XCV.

AN ACCOUNT of the DESIGN
SOCIETY
FOR

Promoting Religious Knowledge among the Poor.

---

WHOEVER believes the Bible to be a revelation from GOD, and that the matter it contains is not only highly worthy of that infinitely great and blessed Being to deliver, but of the last importance both to the temporal and spiritual interests of mankind, will not want any farther arguments to convince him of the obligations he is under, first to receive it with the greatest reverence, affection, and gratitude, himself; and then to propagate the knowledge and belief of it among others. And, indeed, who, that hath tasted the sweetness, and felt the salutary refreshment, of the fountain of life, but must be willing to convey its living waters to others, that those who need the same sacred advantages may drink of the same heavenly streams, be quickened, purified, and comforted, by them, and live for ever.

Those who have made any serious observations upon mankind, cannot be insensible of the deplorable ignorance, that even in this land of light, is to be found among the poorer sort, especially in the country, for want of the proper means of information and knowledge: and that the numbers of those are great, who, notwithstanding the various assistances that have, from time to time, been communicated for their instruction and improvement, yet very much want, in this instance, the farther aids of Christian piety and benevolence.

Animated, they trust, in some degree, by these motives, and to remove, as far as they can, these unhappy disadvantages, which numbers of our poor labour under; many persons have entered into a Society and Subscription to distribute the sacred Scriptures, and other good books, amongst them, as one of the most effectual methods, in their apprehension, under the blessing of GOD, to bring them acquainted with the truth as it is in JESUS, and render them wise to salvation.

As hereby many necessitous families, who are unable to purchase these helps themselves, will be kindly supplied with them by the bounty of others; so it will not be the least part of the blessing, that the rising generation among them will be furnished with such books as are best suited to their tender years: by means of which it is to be hoped, that, under the divine influence, the tendencies of corrupt nature may receive a timely check; and the powerful influence of vicious examples, in these sinful times, be more effectually guarded against; their future perversion from the principles of the Protestant religion, to the errors and corruptions of Popery, be happily prevented; and their precious souls be early seasoned with a lasting tincture of piety and virtue. And if such are esteemed, and indeed with good reason, their generous benefactors, who kindly assist them in providing food and raiment for their bodies; that friendship surely cannot be less valuable, which relates to their precious and immortal souls, and directs them in the way to everlasting blessedness and glory.

As these considerations will without doubt recommend the attempt of the ministers and gentlemen who have entered into this design to the approbation of all good men; so it is to be hoped (especially as it is wholly void of all party views) views) that it will engage others of every Christian denomination among us, who truly fear GOD, love the protestant religion and liberties, and wish well to immortal souls, to countenance, encourage, and promote it.

RULES of the SOCIETY

For Promoting RELIGIOUS KNOWLEDGE
among the POOR.

- I. THE design of this society being to promote Religious Knowledge among the Poor, by giving them Bibles, Testaments, and other good books, where most needed and likely to be improved; it is agreed that the Society shall be supported by an annual subscription of the members, together with the donations and legacies of all who are disposed to contribute towards it.
- II. That no member shall subscribe less than a guinea; that every subscriber pay (at least) one guinea at the time of his or her entrance as a present for the use of the Society; that every subscriber of one guinea be entitled to a nomination of books, in his or her turn, of forty shillings value; that a subscriber of two guineas be entitled to a nomination of four pounds value; and that a subscriber of larger sum be entitled to a nomination of such value as is in that proportion.
- III. That the society shall meet the first Wednesday in every month, at Haberdashers Hall, in Maiden-lane, (or such other place as the society shall appoint,) at seven o'clock during the summer half-year, and at six during the winter; that the number of seven be judged sufficient a quarter of an hour after the said time, and the number of three

three at half an hour after, to proceed to business; that the meetings in January, April, July, and October; be deemed quarterly; that no person become a member without being proposed at one meeting, in order to his or her being admitted the next; that every person, making a present of twenty pounds to the society, be, upon payment of the money, deemed a member for life, and entitled to a parcel of books of forty shillings value in the usual rotation, and so in proportion for any larger sum; that every member be desired to attend the meetings of the society; that, before every quarterly meeting, the time and place of such meeting be advertised once in three of the daily papers, a few days previous to such meeting; and that the rules of the society be read at every quarterly meeting; and the letters, &c. at the monthly meetings.

IV. That a chairman shall be chosen at every meeting; that he be a minister and a layman alternately; that every meeting be opened with prayer; that when a minister is present he be desired to do it; and that each of the first five persons present, at those meetings of the society that are not quarterly, be entitled to one of the Society's large Bibles, provided such person attends before business begins.

V. That a Treasurer, Bookseller, Secretary, and Collector, shall be annually chosen the first Wednesday in January; (notice thereof to be given in the Advertisement for such quarterly meeting;) that the Treasurer, Secretary, and Collector, be members of the society; and that a committee be appointed annually to audit the Treasurer's accounts and report them to the society.

VI. That books shall be constantly provided wherein to insert the names of the subscribers, the sums subscribed, an account how the money is from time to time applied, the books purchased and disposed of, the letters received, and all other matters relating to the society.

VII.

VII. That all money, received by the Secretary, Collector, or any other member, for the use of the society, shall be paid into the hands of the Treasurer, by him to be disbursed in their service; and that the Secretary take minutes of all transactions at the several meetings, which minutes he shall read before the chairman leaves the chair.

VIII. That there shall be an annual sermon preached for the benefit of this charity, at what time, in what place, and by what minister, the society shall think proper; that the members dine together the day the said sermon is preached; that twelve or more stewards be annually appointed for that purpose; and that the stewards for the time being be the committee for auditing the treasurer's accounts for the current year.

IX. That no book shall be received as a gift, be purchased to be given away, or, being already approved of, be rejected and cast out of the society, unless with the unanimous consent of the members at a second quarterly meeting, after having been first proposed at a former; and that, in the printed summonses for such second quarterly meeting, the proposal for the reception, purchase, or rejection, of the said book, be expressly mentioned.

X. That ten or more nominations shall be distributed monthly to the several members in the order they stand on the list; that it is expected of every member, being in arrears the whole annual subscription, that he pays the same before he receives the nomination he may become entitled to in rotation; that the following notice shall be sent to every one entitled to a nomination, viz. A parcel of Books will be at your disposal that evening, which it is expected you claim in person, or by written order, within four months; the written order to be sent to the society, or their Secretary, otherwise, the nomination will lapse to the society; and that a subscriber in the country or foreign parts parts may empower a member to receive his books as often as allotted, without farther notice.

XI. That the usual paper, with the society's title, shall be printed and pasted within the cover of all their bound books; that the bookseller do deliver the several nominations upon a proper warrant under the Treasurer's hand being produced; that the warrant shall be to — or bearer; and that a person having received the Treasurer's warrant, and neglecting to demand the books within four months from the date thereof, do forfeit the nomination to the society. (This to be noted at the bottom of the warrant.)

XII. That the carriage of the several nominations sent into the country from the bookseller shall be defrayed by the society; and that an intimation be sent with them, that it is expected an acknowledgement of their having been received shall be transmitted to the secretary to be laid before the society.

XIII. That an account of the society, containing a suitable preface, the rules, a list of the subscribers, a state of its accounts, a proper form for a donation by will, extracts of letters, and the names, numbers, and prices, of the books given away, shall be annually printed in octavo; and that the society's accounts be stated from Midsummer to Midsummer annually, and be audited previous to printing.

XIV. That whatever be thought proper for the farther conducting and carrying on this charity, shall be determined by the majority at the monthly meetings; and that the transactions of the said meetings be read at the next quarterly one.

Those, who are willing to encourage this design, are desired to send their contributions to either of the gentlemen undermentioned.

The proper Form for a Donation, to the Society, by Will.

ITEM, I, A. B. do hereby give and bequeath the Sum of _____ unto the Treasurer or Secretary for the Time being, of a voluntary Society commonly called or known by the Name of The Society for promoting Religious Knowledge among the Poor, (which Society now usually meet, or did lately meet, at Haberdashers Hall, in London,) the same to be paid within _____ Months next after my Decease, out of my personal Estate, and to be applied to the Uses and Purposes of that Society.

N. B. Those Gentlemen or Ladies, who are disposed to bequeath any Sum or Sums to this Society, are desired to be very particular in expressing the SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING RELIGIOUS KNOW-LEDGE, there being another Society of the same Nature, called the SOCIETY FOR PROMOTING CHRISTIAN KNOWLEDGE; and,
though a Donation to either Society may answer very valuable Purposes, yet it may not entirely comport with the Design of the

L E T T E R S.

ELIZA TOMS, Hadleigh, Suffolk. — According to your request, in the printed letter, I take an early post to inform you of the receipt of a donation of books from Mr. Goadby: it is an acceptable present indeed. Applications to my father for books are innumerable; not only the poor in this place, but those of ten or twelve villages round, petition for them: it is painful to him to send them away without granting their desire, though he is often obliged to do it, and they wait till a supply comes. I cannot express the pleasure with which they are in general received, and they are always earnestly exhorted to make good use of them. Every young person who has a Bible is desired to learn by heart the twelve first verses of the 139th Psalm, and to call and repeat them to my father, if it is in their power. Many parents, to whom he gave a Bible in their youth, beg for a large one, as their eyes fail, by which means they can spare the old one for their children. A poor man, who died last week, during his illness, applied for Shower on Time and Eternity: he had it, read in it, and his family expressed gratitude and satisfaction. A cripple, who lived at some distance, saw, at a neighbour's, one of the Compassionate Addresses to the Christian World, was so delighted with that piece, sent directly, but we could not gratify him; he will now have his wish, as his name is put into one which came in this parcel: there has, for months past, been such ardent desire for that book: we think it might prove a great blessing if we could be favoured with a number to distribute among the humble cottagers. One, who found good impressions from perusing it, lent it to her neighbour, who reading aloud was overheard by a man returning from his day's work: he stopped some time, went home and told his wife he must have the book: though he could not read, she was able. The next day they inquired after it, found it was borrowed, went to the owner, who readily gave them what they asked for, and my father has now made up her loss. We hear that the man and his wife found much satisfaction, we trust profited also.

REV. J. STILLINGFLEET, Hotbam, Yorksb. — I observe, in my parcel of books this time, a printed paper requesting some account of the manner in which the lot of books, sent to each member, is generally used or disposed of. — As to those sent to me, my general mode is to give away the bibles to such of my parishioners or poor neighbours as stand in need. The other books I now prefer to lend out to the poor, &c. I give away some of them as I see proper, but I find it is better to lend them in general than to dispose of them absolutely; for, when they are given, too frequently they put them upon the shelf, where they remain neglected from year to year; whereas, if only lent, it urges them to make use of them, that they may bring them back again in a proper time. Besides, by this means, the several persons are enabled to receive greater instruction; for, when they bring back a book of one sort, they have another in exchange; and so they are enabled to go through many books instead of having only one or two.

Such is my method, which I hope will prove satisfactory to the society. I have hope that it is attended with some good, though less than I could wish; but the event is in higher hands.

REV. GEORGE SCRAGGS, Newcastle, Staffordshire. — On the 25th of July last, I received safely eight large Bibles, four smaller ditto, and three of Dr. Watts's Psalms and Hymns, being the nomination to Mr. Leathley. I should certainly have acknowledged the receipt of them immediately, but I have waited till they are almost all distributed. I can assure you they came very acceptably, as they were much wanted by serious persons, who could not afford to buy them, without debarring themselves of some necessary things in food and raiment. The Psalms and Hymns are very useful for those serious persons, who have a voice and taste for singing, but could not afford to buy them. I have given strict orders that they should be kept whole and clean, which some poor people are very careless about.

THE END.
